Hello everyone, and welcome to June.

Not too much going on from the Microsoft side of things outside of the continuation of the Windows 10 1903 April Update. Here is a link to the update assistant where you can download the ISO to put on to CD/USB. <https://www.microsoft.com/en-us/software-download/windows10>

Apple will possibly be announcing at the World Wide Developers conference that it is phasing out iTunes and having people use Apple Music which is subscription based. This would earn them a lot more profit than the current process of income coming solely from music purchases. <https://www.msn.com/en-us/news/technology/tunes-the-world-awaits-apple-music-platforms-fate/ar-AAcksjS?ocid=spartandhp>

This month will mark the 75th anniversary of the D-Day invasion. There are a fair number of things being put out by the History Channel etc., but one article I found interesting was about how Hitler fell for the deception of where the invasion was going to be. <https://www.history.com/news/d-day-hitler-germany-defenses-miscalculations?source=history&platform=facebook&postid=sf103516253&sf103516253=1&fbclid=IwAR12WUO6KYSHUnssa9MroFr5sPGpDXi7HadGJYKY2ijceRmsBXtpfyINak>

NASA has announced its first three commercial moon landing services naming them after Artemis, who was the sister of Apollo in Greek mythology. <https://www.nasa.gov/press-release/nasa-selects-first-commercial-moon-landing-services-for-artemis-program>

If you are thinking of what to do with your kids/grandkids this summer, or any time of the year, Space Camp looks like an interesting program. I would have liked to have done it when I was young but didn't know of it since there was no internet back then. (Yes, I am old enough to remember that.) Space Camp can go from a weekend to a couple of weeks with a variety of different programs for kids and adults and is located in Huntsville Alabama. <https://www.spacecamp.com/>

Finally, if you happen to be going to Disneyland and have a large amount of spending money available, this looks like it is worth checking out. <https://www.msn.com/en-us/travel/news/disneylands-stars-wars-land-it-feels-so-real/ar-AACd5us?ocid=anaheimntp>
