TAPPING THE

K . E . G . S .

KOMPUTER ENTHUSIASTS OF GREATER SEATTLE

Prez Says:

Ron Cowger

Happy 4th of July everyone! I hope that you have an opportunity to participate in a celebration on this great holiday that salutes our wonderful nation. I know that we all complain from time to time about our governments, both federal and local, and how we think the country could be run differently and hopefully better. However, I hope that we will all agree that even though our nation is imperfect, it's the best one on earth and I wouldn't want to live anywhere else. If you are going to celebrate the 4th by shooting off a few fireworks of your own, please do it safely. After all, you need all of your fingers to operate your computer efficiently.

The General Meeting in June was dedicated to the annual KEGaBuck$ Auction. We had a wide cross section of articles varying from many types of software through laptop carrying bags to complete PCs. My thanks to all of you who donated items for the Auction. We were thrilled to have over 230 items up for bid! Many items went for 50 KEGaBuck$ so I hope no one felt that they couldn't afford any of the items offered. Just for your information, the highest bid was for 8250 KEGaBuck$ for a copy of Windows 7 Ultimate. Wow! I want to offer my sincere thanks for all of the members who worked so hard on the Auction, especially Sally Ann Mowrey, Judy Panjeti, Barbara Marasco, Joe Mraz, Joseph Nowak and Dick Arensberg. We wouldn't have been able to do it without them.

Bob Baxter has made arrangements for the presenters for the July General Meeting. Bob created an excellent description of the topic for the KEGS Calendar so I will quote it here. "Rob Viens and Marlin Miller will review the Video Phone offered by American Communications Network or ACN Telecommunications. ACN is the world's largest direct seller of telecom services. With the ACN digital video phone equipment and the associated broadband service, you can see the person you're talking to and they can see you. Of course you both need compatible equipment. You can use the phone as a digital photo frame when you are not making calls with it. The service provides you with video mail and messaging, an enhanced phone book, customized ring tones and many more features not available with other types of phones. And since it is using broadband, it is an internet phone; so many calls can be free. Come learn how this equipment and service works."

To date we have not received any member-provided tips and tricks concerning computer/software use to include on our web site. If you have tips that you would like to offer for this purpose, please forward them to me. I will act as a clearing function to try to organize the tips and to avoid duplicates. Joe has suggested that he will set up a special email address to which tips can be forwarded and I will provide that address to you soon. In the meantime, if you have tips to offer, you may send them to me at the email address president@kegs.org. Thanks.

This month there are two new tips from Sharon Parq Associates added to our monthly newsletter.

There is one for using Word and the other for Excel, each designed to expand our knowledge of these applications. If you want access to additional tips from this company, you can go to their websites at word.tips.net or excel.tips.net. I think you'll find the information interesting and useful.

So far this year, fifty-eight computer enthusiasts have joined or renewed their memberships in KEGS. Thanks very much for your confidence in the organization. We finished 2009 with sixty-three members in our group. We still need to focus on building our membership throughout 2010. I encourage those of you who have not yet done so to renew your memberships as soon as possible. Renewal forms are available from John Tate, our Treasurer, or you can fill out the form on the KEGS web site, print it out and send it along with your check to the address shown on the form. An even easier way would be to bring your completed form and your check to the next General Meeting and give it to John there.

That's it for now. I hope to see each of you at your favorite SIG. Unfortunately, I will miss the July General Meeting as I will be out of town on a short vacation. I wish you happy and safe computing!

Word Tip of the Month

Printing More Than One Copy

Microsoft Word gives you complete control over how it prints your document. If desired, you can print more than one copy of your document. To print to a file, follow these steps:

1. Choose Print from the File menu. You will see the Print dialog box. (To display the Print dialog box in Word 2007, click the Office button and then click Print.) A really quick way to display the Print dialog box is to simply press Ctrl+P.

The Print dialog box.

2. In the Copies box, indicate the number of copies you want to print.
3. In the Range box, specify what you want to print.
4. Check the status of the Collate option. (Select or clear the option based on whether you want the pages of each copy printed in order or not.)
5. Click on OK.

Excel Tip of the Month

Counting Cells with Specific Characters

Let's say that you have a Microsoft Excel worksheet that contains all the people who have ever worked in your department. Each name is prefaced by a single character that indicates the status of the person. For instance, if Fred Davis were retired, his name might show up as "RFred Davis". With quite a lot of these names in the worksheet, you may need a way to count those people with a specific status character.

The easiest way to accomplish this is to use the COUNTIF function. If, for instance, the status character is the letter R (for "retired"), and your range of names is in cells A5:A52, then you could use the following to determine which cells begin with the letter R:

```
=COUNTIF(A5:A52, "R*")

The formula works because the comparison value is R*, which means "the letter R followed by any other characters." Excel dutifully returns the count. To search for a different status character, simply replace R with the desired status character.

Obviously, if the asterisk has a special meaning in this usage, you can't search directly for an asterisk. Actually, there are three characters you cannot search for directly: the asterisk (*), the question mark (?) and the tilde (~). If you want to search for any of these characters, you must precede the character with the tilde. Thus, if you wanted to determine a count of names that had a question mark as a status code, you could use the following:

```
=COUNTIF(A5:A52, "~?*")
```

An alternative to using COUNTIF is to create an array formula that is applied to every cell in the range. The following will do the trick very nicely:

```
```

This must, of course, be entered as an array formula. This means that instead of pressing ENTER at the end of the formula, you would press SHIFT+CTRL+ENTER. The formula checks the left-most character of a cell, returning the value TRUE if it is R or FALSE if it is not. The multiplication is done to convert the TRUE/FALSE value to a number, either 1 for TRUE or 0 for FALSE. The SUM function returns the sum, or count, of all the cells that meet the criteria.
